

Echo

In a moment it was over,
it would never come again,
And I heard you say,
"Don't look back now, it's over, and it would never be the same".

In a moment we'll be closer than we've ever been before,
And I heard you call my name.
I looked over my shoulder but there was nobody there.

Changing, changing,
Day out, day in,
Changing, changing,
Everything changed.

Sleep walking, wide awake chasing the memory of a day, hearing the beat of my two feet echoing on the street heaven aligned its step with mine the right place at the right time.
I turned the corner again.

In a minute it will be here in the blink of an eye, but I let it pass me by.
I plant the seed and watch it grow,
I spin the wheel once more.

Changing, changing,
Day out, day in,
Changing, changing,
Everything changed.

Emily dare Culler 2009